FONTI E STUDI PER LA SCIENZA LITURGICA

“Ad profundiora autem studia provehenda ac fructus sui laboris publici iuris faciendos”

(dal Decreto di istituzione della rivista Ecclesia orans, 2 febbraio 1984)

La collana rappresenta una sorta di naturale e quasi dovuta “estensione” della rivista Ecclesia orans impegnata quale strumento accademico in cui trovano spazio e si pongono in dialogo i risultati delle ricerche dei docenti del Pontificio Istituto Liturgico presso l’Ateneo S. Anselmo di Roma, nonché di studiosi che desiderano porre a servizio della scienza liturgica le proprie ricerche. La collana dà voce a studi che superano i limiti previsti (spesso angusti, vista l’enormità della materia) per un articolo e favorisce, in particolar modo la pubblicazione di fonti, principalmente liturgiche e studi su di essi. I principali destinatari di volumi saranno dunque docenti e ricercatori in ambito liturgico, nonché gli studenti e tutti coloro che amano andare al fondo del mistero celebrato per ritus et preces.

The series represents a sort of natural and almost necessary “extension” of the journal Ecclesia orans committed to being an academic instrument providing space to present and put in dialogue the research results of the professors of the Faculty of Liturgy at the Pontifical Ateneo S. Anselmo in Rome, as well as of scholars who wish to place their own research at the service of liturgical science. The series gives voice to research that exceeds an article’s expected limits (often too narrow for the enormity of the subject matter) and encourages in particular the publication of sources, mainly liturgical sources, and studies on them. The volumes are therefore principally aimed at professors and researchers in the liturgical field, as well as students and all who desire to plumb the mystery celebrated per ritus et preces.
